Pledge Made by School's 'Mini Police'

Wellington Primary Academies' 'Mini Police' make pledge to community.

Two primary schools, Wellington Lions Primary and Wellington Eagles Primary have made their pledge to parents and pupils to help police their local area. The students begin their training in due course with Wiltshire Police.

Jake and Lucy, Youth and Early Intervention Officers from Wiltshire Thursday and Friday to welcome in the school's mini police. Each pupil agreed to uphold their roles in reporting anything they see or find in order to look after their community.

The course includes teaching the pupils how to manage a crime scene, with a demonstration on how to correctly bag any evidence. The pupils will be going out to do speed checks for their local area, litter picking and many more fun activities. Pupils are given the opportunity to bend their course to suit them, their school and the local community, every course is different and is amended to the school and the pupil's concerns.

Claire Addis, Executive Headteacher, went on to say "It is great to see the enthusiasm from each child. Each one of our 'Mini Police' has already shown great promise and I look forward to seeing what they have to offer our community moving forward. Our pupils have already raised concerns, such as our local parks, and so working alongside Jake and Lucy, we hope to make big changes. We are extremely grateful to Wiltshire Police for allowing us this opportunity."
