

The Big Listen – Calne school launches new project

A school-wide initiative has been launched to improve learning and teaching at Kingsbury Green Academy.

Over the coming weeks, senior staff will gather feedback from students, staff, parents and carers to understand what's working well and what could be improved.

Surveys, tutor group discussions, and regular student meetings are being run to focus on enhancing teaching, student wellbeing, inclusion, as well as personal and career development across the whole school.

Rob Wood, Deputy Headteacher, said: "This is an academy-wide project designed to gather real, meaningful feedback so we can improve learning and teaching in our school.

"At the centre of this will be the views of every student, tutor group and member of staff to find out from them what is working in school but also what could be improved.

"We will also be gathering the views of parents and carers as this is about our whole school community.

"We already have a brilliant school at Kingsbury Green, but we want it to be even better and the only way to improve that is by listening to those who are at the heart of what we do day in, day out."
